JOURNALISTS PERFORM INTERVIEWS

Interviews can add a lot to your journalism piece. They are like evidence for your writing.

To start...

- Come up with a list of open-ended questions
- Find a person that is a witness of what you are writing about
- Get exact quotes and add them wherever you think they fit in your piece.

A Bad Example of a Question

Do you think the Jog-a-thon was fun?

A Good Example of a Question

What do you feel about the Jog-a-thon?
