

How to Conduct an Interview

This is a vital thing in journalism because readers need to see the different sides of what people think about the situation your writing about. If you include a quote, readers know the perspective of people.

1. The simple step to including quote is to first find someone who has witnessed the Situation and ask a question.
2. Find a strong quote and decide Where it best fits the article.
3. The final step is to write down the quote the person said then...
Voila | you have it, a quote.

YES

Did you have a great birthday? And if so, why?

"It was great! It was fabulous because all my friends came and the cake was a mystery chocolate! It was the best birthday EVER!" said Lizzy enthusiastically.

NO

Did you have a good birthday?
Yeah, it was good.
